In Memoriam

We dedicate this book of memories to ...

Earl R. Smith

1986 brought a degree of triumph and renewed spirit to our school. But it also brought much sadness. It will long be remembered as the year of the catastrophic explosion of the Challenger space shuttle with the tragic death of those seven brave astronauts, and of a terrible nuclear accident in Russia. But 1986 will also mark the unexpected death of one man much closer to our own hearts and lives,

Earl Smith. As an Armstrong bus driver for ten years, Earl was always ready with a smile, a happy hello or a friendly wave to greet countless students and teachers alike. He was not a man of many words, but of many qualities. Earl was dependable, patient and kind to all—and he is one who will be sadly missed by us all.

Face it;
I'm right

I dare you to go ask him to dance!

That's right; we're bad!

Well, why aren't they coming over here to ask us to dance?

... I know hazing is out, but what about plain ol' intimidating?

... YUK! Did you see the pictures of that guy's hand out in I.A.?

... What do you mean, I have to be able to spell to use the computer? I thought IT was literate!

... So maybe Ag I won't be so bad. I hear Mr. Harlan likes working with 'dumb animals.'

... I can't be in the band or chorus this year; somebody might hear me!

... I wonder how I can coax Mac into giving me a permanent computer pass!

... I wonder how I can coax Mac into giving me an F so I don't have to face Ms. Bohlen!

... Is my inferiority complex justified?

In the beginning there was terror . . .

" . . . AARRGHHH! Why couldn't I have flunked eighth grade?

... What if I can't get my darn locker open, and all those older guys stand there laughing?

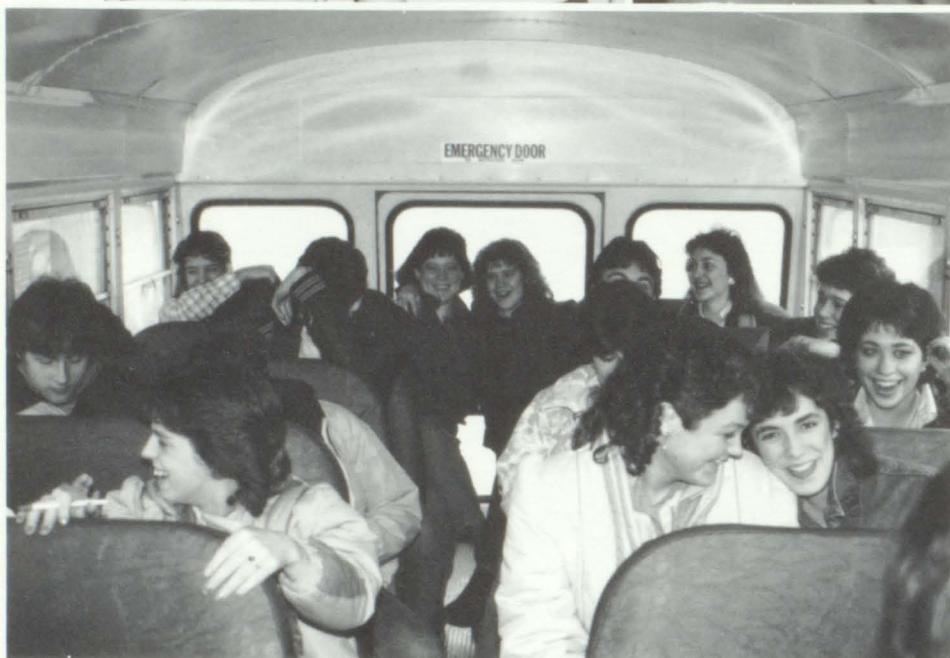

... What if I can't get my locker open, and I'm INSIDE it!?

... Oh no! What if we HAVE to take showers in P.E.? (Well, from all those horror stories about co-ed gym and warball, I won't survive long enough to worry.)

... Even if I memorized and recited the dictionary, would Miss Bohlen give me an A?

... Why doesn't Mrs. Roberts believe I have arthritis and my doctor won't let me type faster than 8 wpm?

... Boy, this darn research paper is giving me a real pain; they won't give me any aspirin and I can't even take a Tylenol!

... Ooh, if I don't get my license, I'll just die. (Of course, the way I drive, so might somebody else!)

... Mr. Hornbeck, are you sure that dissecting sharks and cats is in accordance with the S.P.C.A.?

Then came hope . . .

" . . . Does 'sophomore' really mean 'wise fool'?"

... Ok, Mr. Cox, if I sell candy and popcorn, what sort of discount and commission do I get?

... What'dya mean we gotta know all the muscles in the human body—my body or someone else's?

... A resume? But I've never done anything!

... You mean the yellow line down the middle of the road isn't for bicycles?

... How can I schedule all my weekly orthodontist appointments to fall exactly during English and History?

... Can I give a demonstration speech on how to stand up in front of class, faint, and knock over the podium?

... Memorize Shakespeare lines?! He never did and look how well he did in English!

... What are the odds that if I listen to the news on 'DNL on the way to school that I can get out of reading my Newsweek and USA Today?

... 'Getting my ACT together' this year means not partying till dawn before the A.C.T. and S.A.T. tests.

... Our turn to do the prophecy, huh? Can't we just say W.W. III happened and everybody had a blast?

... Hey, what am I gonna wear to prom (and how is Mom gonna pay for it)?

Next, bravery . . .

" . . . Hey, Man, now I'm getting somewhere," (especially since I got my driver's license and I can grab the keys faster than Mom can).

... More vocab. words? I thought we learned 'em all last year!

... But Mrs. Miller, if you order all the library magazines from ME, I could win the underwater digital clock/ fm radio noseplugs and I'd give you the fuzzy little Martian that sticks on your forehead!

This year all seniors performed their patriotic duty of daily raising, lowering, and proper handling of the flag, skills they learned from Mr. Bezely in Civics class. Not pictured on this page are Jamie Romine and Rhonda Sieberns.

Learning of VOTEC

The sophomores enjoy their trip to check out the VOTEC facilities, and of course, everyone enjoys those long bus rides!

Those who went to VOTEC this year included (clockwise) Jesse Lester, Rick Simpson, David Bice, Michele Gordon, Sara Martin, John Gordon, Scott Cropper and Darren Wilken. Jamie Romine is pictured at bottom right.

"Sounds OK to get out of fifth hour drowsies, but gee, can I survive that bus ride? What could I take? Food Service? Nah, I can take it, but I can't dish it out! And I get enough Child Care practice on my little brother. Machine Shop or Auto Work? I don't think so—I remember my bicycle that I took apart once. Office Practice, I dunno. Those buzzers and buttons on the telephones look pretty scary. Hey—maybe Building Trades! I did make a bird house once. Health Occupations? Nope, I'd hafta develop good habits . . . Welding maybe sounds like a hot prospect. But if I studied Electronics, maybe I could figure out how to hook up stereo components by myself! And in Horticulture I might learn how to keep my cactus alive! Yeah, maybe I could get some good out of VOTEC!"

FFA:

Fine Future Ahead!

Dawn and Mark prove they're not color blind as they code cards for one of the many judging contests.

The two Brads are ready to score!

During a year when so much was read and heard about the hardships and failures of farming, Armstrong's FFA Chapter was still going strong. This year's awards for all the fairs, contests and tournaments were too numerous to mention; suffice it to say, ATHS should be proud of its group!

In November the National FFA Convention in Kansas City was attended by Steve Vermillion, Doug Frerichs, John Gordon, Mark Hood, Scott Cropper and Rick Simpson. Included in the dozens of FFA school activities throughout the year, under the tireless supervision of Mr. Harlan, were the annual FFA Week events in February: Truck Day, Hat Day, Teacher Carwash, Officers' Visit to WIAI, the always popular petting zoo and the always close FFA & Faculty Basketball Game were held.

The year's seventy-seven days of FFA activities were acknowledged at the annual spring banquet in April. It is this kind of strong commitment and hard work as shown by the Armstrong FFA's dedicated sponsor and members that give farming in the '80's a hopeful outlook. Good work, Everyone!

You can't judge a cow by its cover ...

For the first time in ten years, the coaches, teachers and board members didn't stand a chance against this year's FFA team (Well, FFA won by two points!)

Franish Club

Officers of the Franish Club included Treasurer Denise Buck, Secretary Lisa Cler, President Jane Johnson, and Vice-President Jim Huls. Advisor was Miss Street.

At Stunt
Night

NHS keeps itself busy throughout the year with various beneficial activities. Candy is handed out at different holidays, and baked goods are sold at each boys' basketball game. This year the group, along with several others, donated money to help pay for a new color video camera. This year's officers included President Lisa Piatt, Vice-President Mark Schluter, Secretary Holly Clingan, and Treasurer Angela Blackford.

National Honor Society

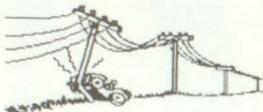

Students Against Driving Drunk

Each year, thousands of people are killed or maimed on America's highways. That is why the Students Against Driving Drunk Chapter was initiated at ATHS during the 1985-1986 school year. Over half of the student body was eager to join and show support. This year the SADD program sponsored the St. Patrick's Day dance as well as a public awareness campaign during prom season.

Mr. Coan brought back the spirit of singing and dancing this year with an all-girls Swing Choir. The members, shown at the left, were Melissa Schluter, Michele Gordon, Denise Buck, Kim Park, Lisa Buck, Amy Jarboe, and Elizabeth Mulvaney, as they appeared in the Spring Concert.

Denise and Melissa placed second at the Georgetown District Contest for their singing ability.

Student Council

The Student Council does much for our school. Members arrange assemblies, dances (including Homecoming and its week of fun-filled anticipation), pizza sales to help raise money for the yearbook, class competition, and Student Council Week (often with outlandish activities) near the end of the year. Being a member is both edifying and enjoyable. It is an experience more students should join in to realize their potential for group activity and leadership, which can bring not only responsibility but rewards as well.

Trojans are serious athletes!

You take that right back!

This year's volleyball season was a fairly successful one with final records of 7-10 for the Varsity, 3-11 for the JV, and 2-1 for the Freshman teams. The Varsity team, made up of mostly juniors, was delighted to have many freshmen join, allowing the outlook for success next year to be very promising. However, the team will be sorry to see two of the senior players, Holly and Wendy, go.

The team is coached by Mrs. Herman, who has headed the program with comparable results for five years. Special awards included a consolation trophy given to the Varsity team in the Bismarck Invitational Tourney, All Conference in the Iroquois Conference and All County in Vermilion County to Tammy Knight, and Special Mention to Kristy Roberts for Vermilion County. Good-luck next year girls—see you at the games!

JV

Volleyball

Varsity

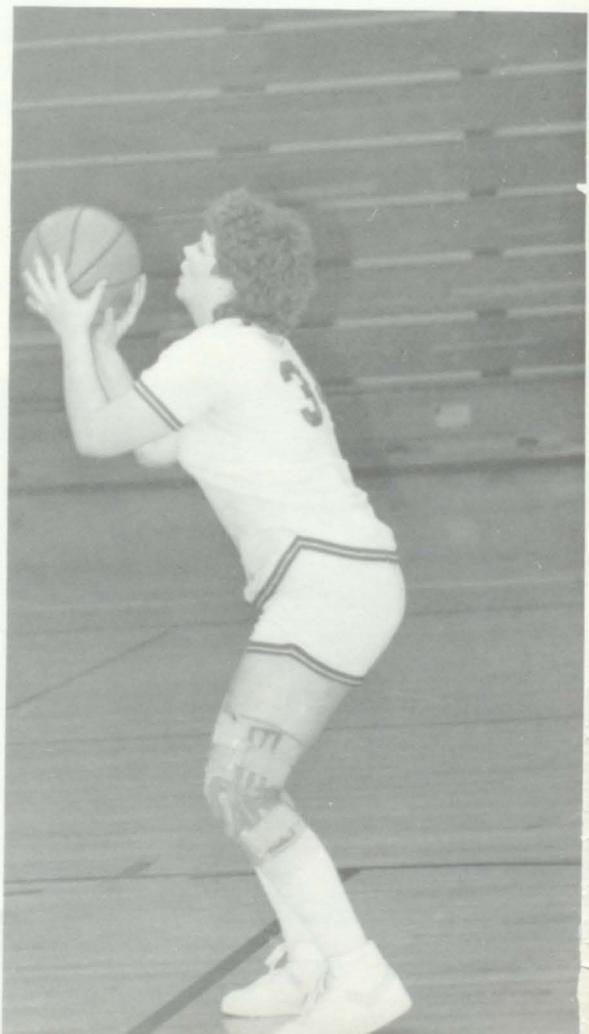

The Girls' Varsity team ended the year with a 7-14 record; however, they lost several very close contests. With only one senior returning, the road to success was long and difficult.

The younger players came through when needed, though, and much improvement was shown throughout the season. The JV team finished with a fine record of 12 and 5.

THERESA HAMILTON All-Iroquois and All Vermilion County Special Mention

DENISE BUCK and All-Vermilion TAMMY KNIGHT Honorable Mention and All-Armstrong Tourney Team

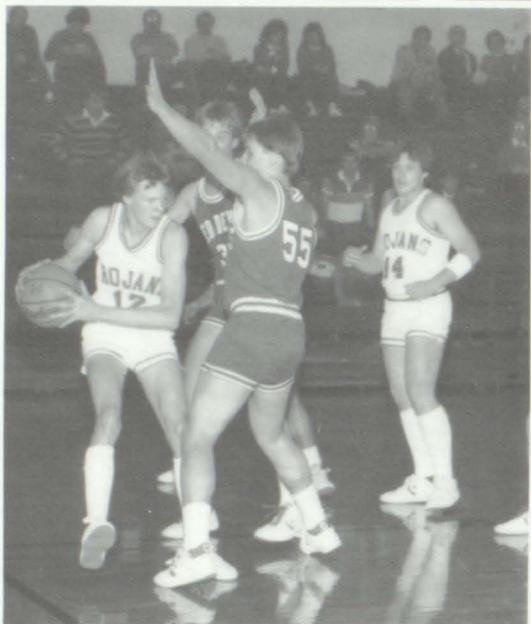

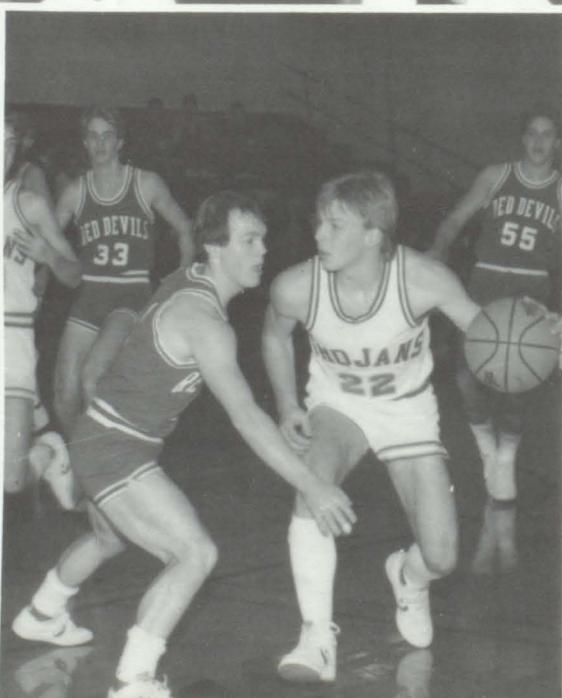

JV member Rick Tucker concentrates.

Besides much practice and coaching, skills of quick thinking, good sportsmanship, and camaraderie between members all lead to success of a team. This year's Trojans exhibited all.

Above and below, MVP and Ace Freethrower Mark Schluter demonstrates determination and skill which won him All-County and All-Iroquois Conference First Team Choice.

Bryan Schluter received All-County Special Mention for his ball-handling skills.

Coaches Hank Hornbeck and Byron Wise, along with all the Trojan fans, had much to be proud of with their teams this year. Despite having no seniors on their team, the Varsity boys, displaying exceptional energy and close teamwork, played consistently well, ending the season with 18 wins and only 7 losses. The JV boys showed equal promise, making next year's Trojans a formidable force to reckon with!

1986 Class Competition

Shiver me timbers!

What's the point—or rather who's the point—to this pyramid?

It was not a fit day out for man nor contestant, but the determined ATHS classes proved they weren't wimpish in this year's annual competition. Ironically, "Shorts and Shades Day" coincided with the coldest day of spring for this demonstration of chilly skills. Although the day was cold and gray, the mood grew feverish as each class fought it out in grueling feats of cracker-crunching, mummy-wrapping, and literally "egging each other on." As last year, the seniors were triumphant in the contest, with the juniors being second, and the freshmen and sophomores tying for third.

This brings a new meaning to "egg on the face!"

Pretty crumby job, huh?

One, two, gimme my shoe!!

Getting wrapped up in their work!

The plot thickens ...

The jaded janitor and agitated actress at it again ...

Standing are Cindy Hesterberg—Prompter; Mr. Coan—Co-Director; Lisa Piatt—Production Assistant; Players Ann Hubner, Holly Clingan, Niel Turner, Becky Severs, Bryan Schluter, Amy Pflugmacher and Rhonda Bohlen; and Mrs. Miller—Co-Director.

Murder on the ATHS Stage?

Mystery, terror, and danger joined the cast onstage in Armstrong's production of Murder on Center Stage, one of the more serious student dramas—complete with Shakespearean scenes—attempted in many years.

Theresa Hamilton and Greg Thornton performed their roles well as play director and would-be killer, along with a fine job from the rest of the cast and crew. And of course, the real directors of the drama, Evelyn Miller and Darryl Coan, deserve hearty congratulations on a job well done!

The curtain opened to the theatre stage of a liberal arts college where an evening rehearsal of Romeo and Juliet was in progress. The action began with an impromptu search for the identity of the legendary ghost that had haunted the theatre for fifteen years. This innocent jaunt quickly developed into a frantic effort for survival as the group found itself trapped in the darkened theatre and stalked by a demented killer.

Recognizing Superior Effort and Ability

Band and Chorus excellence, Mr. Coan felt, was shown by Elizabeth Mulvaney and Denise Buck.

Mrs. Miller was proud of the Dramatic talents shown by Theresa Hamilton.

Perfect attendance is impossible for many, but not so for Joan Camp, Darren Loschen, Amy Jarboe, and Angie Hines.

Prom night is a magic time when the balmy spring evening transforms frantic teens in jeans into sophisticated, lovely belles in flowing gowns and handsome beaux in elegant tuxedos. The happy scene for this year's meal, music and magic was once again a favorite spot, the Beef House in Covington, Indiana.

Each year under the guiding hand of Joanne Tate, selected juniors work hard to present a pleasant setting for this very special dinner-dance, one which will create a night to remember. The magic and fun of May 3, 1986 will certainly be remembered, and the camaraderie of all who joined in will be cherished.

Expert organizer Mrs. Tate is pleased with the effort shown by this year's prom committee as Niel, dashing and debonair, lines himself up with a bevy of beauties.

Prom '86

Beautiful belles and beaux of the ball . . .

Peggy and Theresa present silly wills.

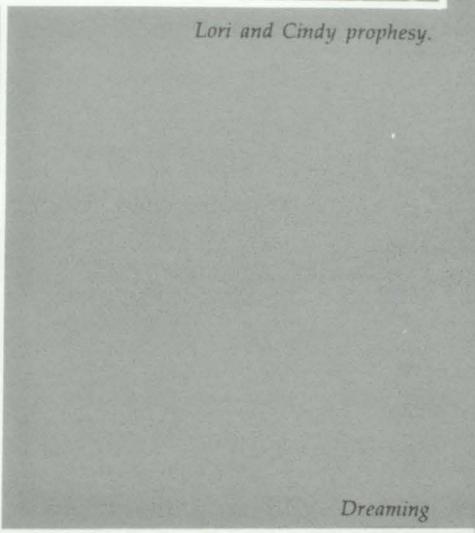

Tammy and her date sit this one out.

Soundman Neil lurks and sniggers in the background while Joan plays the straightman.

Lori and Cindy prophesy.

Tables with a view

Steve is at all times the epitome of grace and decorum, but especially on formal occasions . . .

"Maybe it'd stay up better, Peggy, if we used some A-1 sauce on it instead of the mousse . . ."

The Anticipation of a Perfect Night to Remember . . .

"What do you mean an 'avoidable absence'? Mr. Stagen, getting my hair styled and nails done was an absolute necessity!"

"Hey, the tux fits great, but I'm not sure about the size 18 bowling shoes . . ."

"Do you think anyone will notice the snag in my stocking if I wear a slip, a petticoat, a crinoline, a hoop and twenty yards of taffeta?"

"If I can't get the tie straight, can I just wear the cummerbund around my neck?"

"Oh, these flowers are bee-you-tee-ful! But do they go in my hair, on my wrist, on my dress, or in the centerpiece?"

"Uh, gee, I hate to tell you this after blowing 200 bucks to look nice this evening, but I can't dance in high heels, and I don't wanna eat anything or my dress'll be too tight, and my back is sunburned so don't touch me. But let's have a good time, OK?"

And Afterward . . .

"Well, I know the tux got a little dirtier than normal, but you see, I had to change a flat tire and add oil on the way to go water-skiing after the post-prom greased-pig, mud-wrestling contest. There won't be any extra charge, will there?"

"Hey, Mom, I need a new dress, shoes, and hair-do for graduation."

"UGH, is it Monday morning already? I can't move . . ."

Theresa and Holly Graduate at the Top of Their Class

Valedictorian Theresa Hamilton and Salutatorian/DAR award winner Holly Clingan smiled proudly as they received their honors at the 71st Annual Graduation exercises held at Armstrong Township High School. Also recognized was Class President Jim Huls, recipient of the SAR award. Nineteen other graduates were just as happy to join in the day's celebrations to mark their accomplishment.

The ceremony occurred only minutes after millions across the country had joined hands in an effort to show their faith and desire to help fellow Americans in need. It was a proud moment for our country and for our graduates in the Class of 1986—may that faith and pride in what we can accomplish for ourselves and others long endure!

Class Reunion

We are broadcasting live from Piatt's Palace in Piattsburg, Pennsylvania. We are here to bring the events of the Class of 1986's 20th reunion. But first here is a word from our sponsors . . .

Siemillion Diaper Service owned by Rhonda Sieberns and Peggy Vermillion. Our motto is, "We see millions of bottoms every day." And another sponsor for the first half of tonight's show is PERMS R US, by Darren Wilken, Inc. The promotional designs for tonight's show are provided by Romine Art Company.

Yes, we are back live as we see our social hostess for the evening, Lisa Lee, greet some of our guests. An early arrival was Mary, of course. She is providing tonight's appetizers, deviled eggs, from her famous restaurant, The Early Bird's Nest.

Arriving with her male HAREM is the owner and founder of the Cling-On a Man Dating Service, Holly Clingan.

CRASH! BANG!! Holy-Moly! Making an astounding entrance—not by way of the door, but of the north wall—is Scott Cropper. His driver for this evening is none other than his old buddy, Private David Bice, alias "The Weekend Warrior."

Approaching with a rather flashy appearance is John "Flash" Gordon. He comments, "Re sure are going to have a great time tonight!"

The next to arrive in their Miami Mice Mobile is Jane Johnson and her newly-wed husband Don. The couple's financial success is attributed to their Rodent Extermination Company.

Some of our entertainment tonight will be provided by the ever-popular Bedonna Severs. She told us that Jim Huls flew her in. As we speak, Jim is landing his new computerized plane. His company, Neon's Away, provided all air transportation for tonight's reunion.

As we mingle with the crowd, we meet Jean and Steve, accompanied with their two children Kitty and Hermy. Steve is now the owner of an insurance company with the motto, "Drive carefully, or it may cost you deerly." Jean comments that she is now the new president of M.T.V.; however, she plans to rename the station S.T.V.

And now a word from our next sponsor . . .

You may ask "Where's the beef?"; we've got the answer here at the Losch/Cler Club! It's exclusively for fast-food lovers. They are located on 136 in Rantoul, Illinois.

Back to the palace, where we will talk to our hostess, Lisa. Miss Lee, who graduated from the Academy of Hostess Ding-Dongs at the top of her class, is doing a fine job this evening. That is, we will try to talk to her, if we can catch up!

In the corner we see Wendy Remington, who tells us that due to her vast experience on the softball team, she decided to extend her knowledge of the game to others. She now owns the Wendolino Softball Club. And at Wendy's side is her top scout and photographer, Miss Theresa Hamilton. Theresa informs us that she won't be a miss for long, due to her upcoming marriage to Pete Rose.

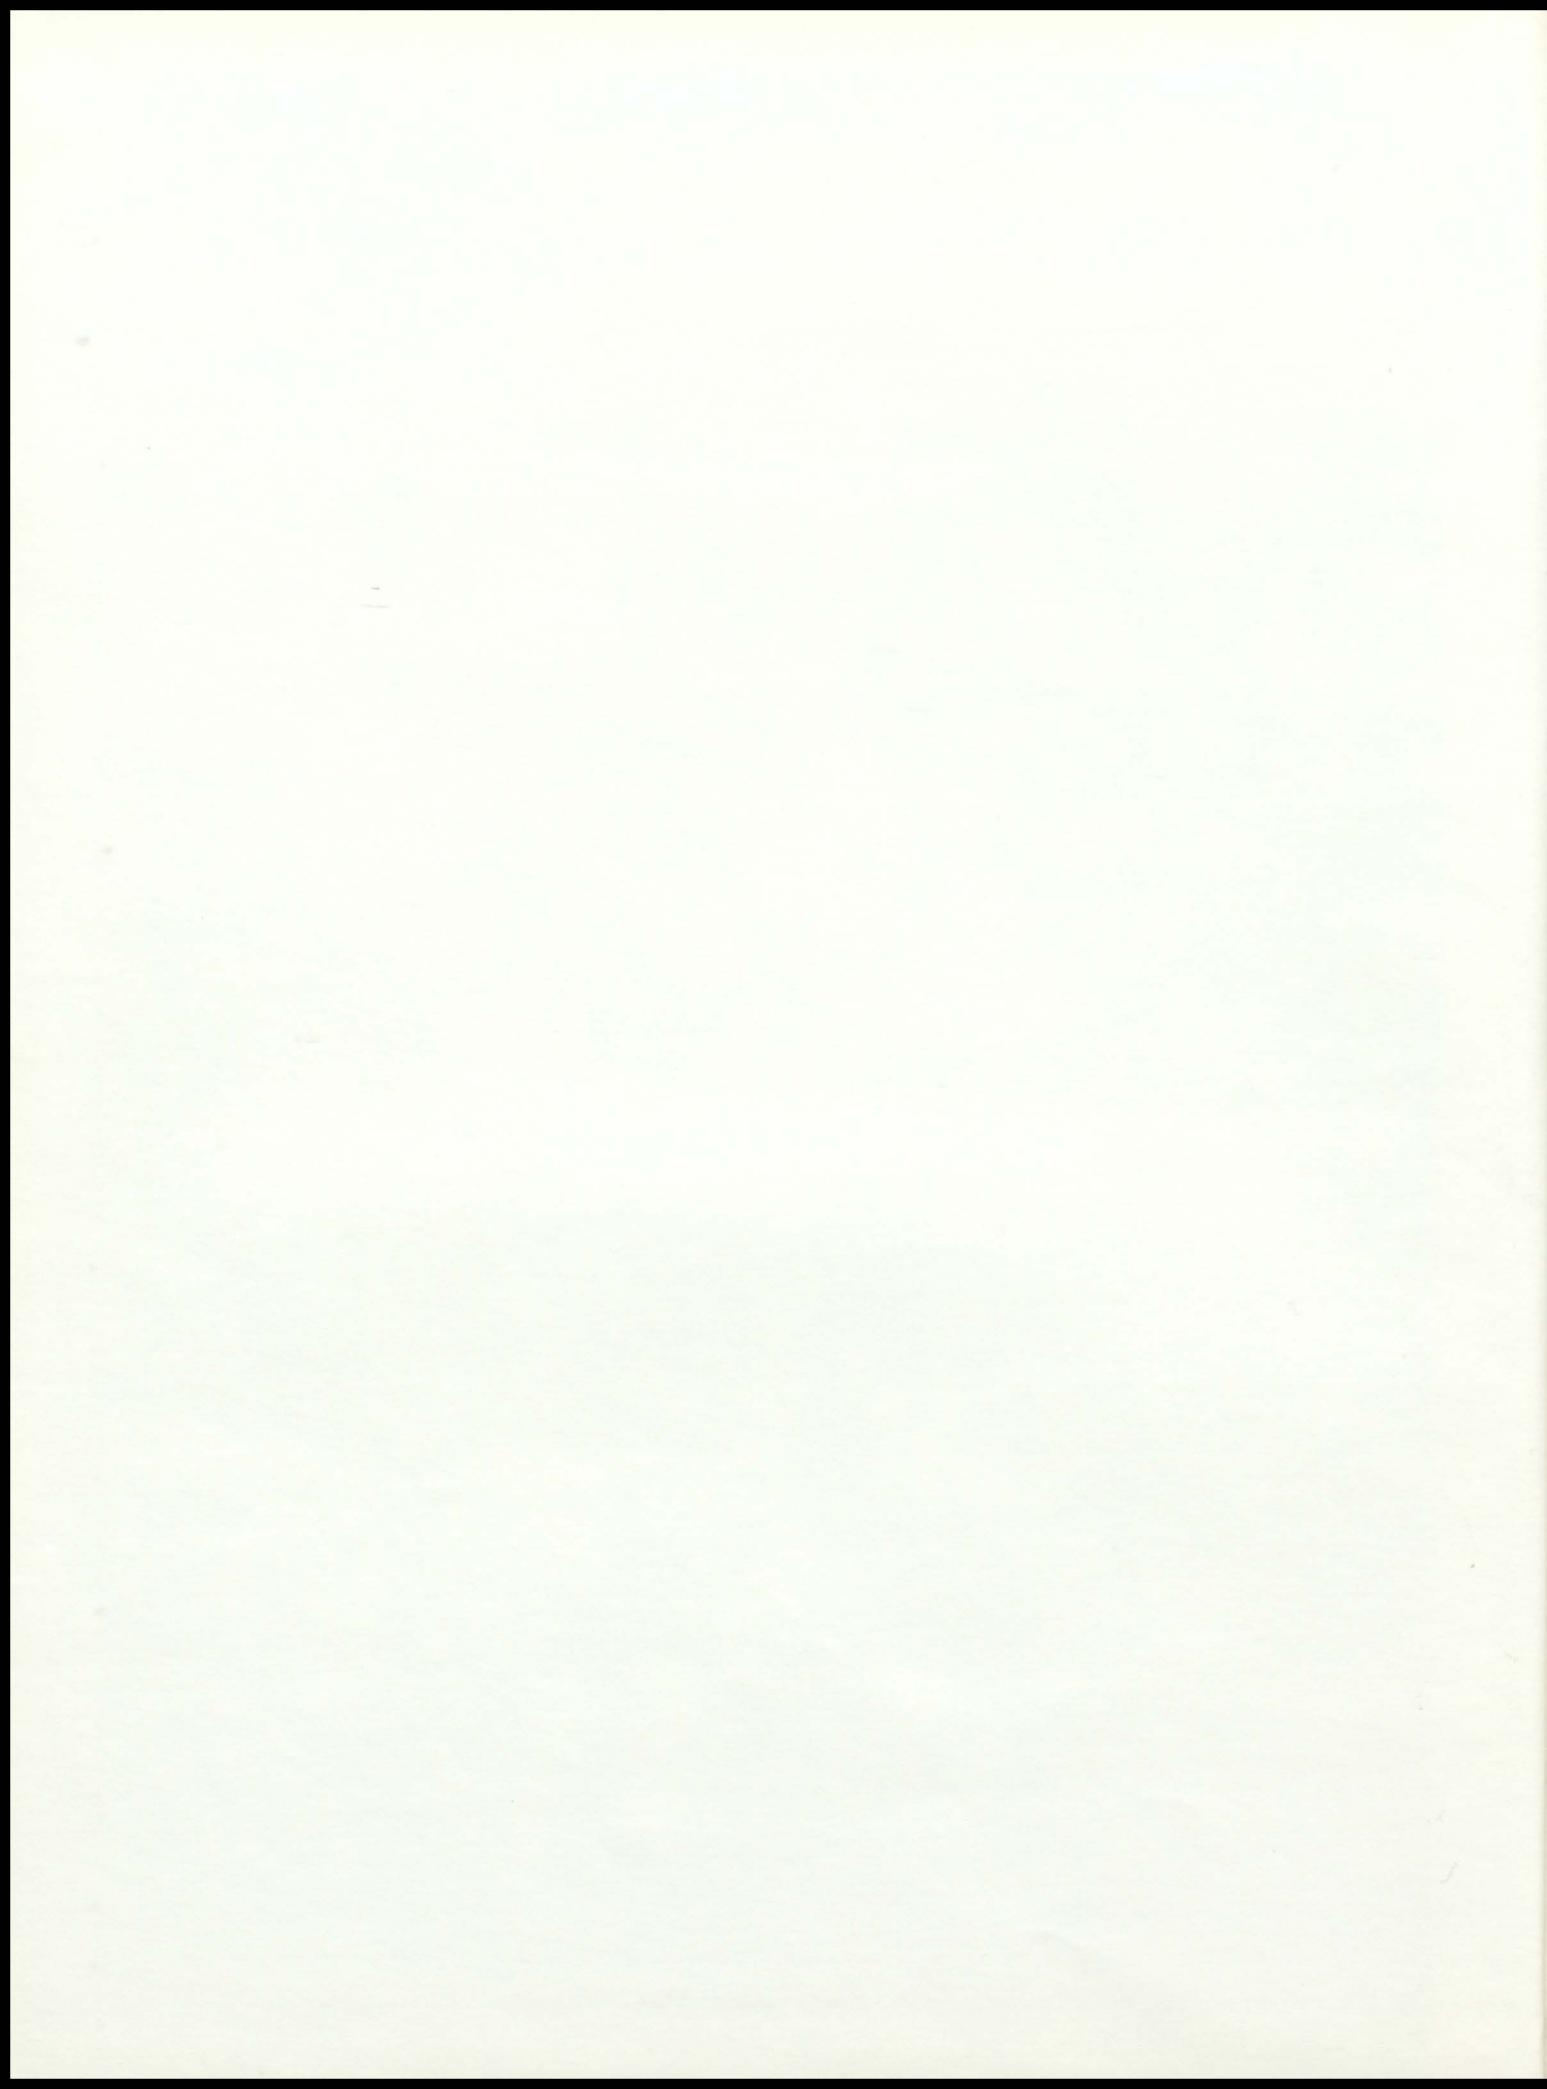

We interrupt this program for a special message just delivered by Simpson's Simply Said Services. It seems that one of the graduates, Miss Heinz, is unable to attend tonight's affair because her services as Coach Bob's psychiatric nurse are desperately needed.

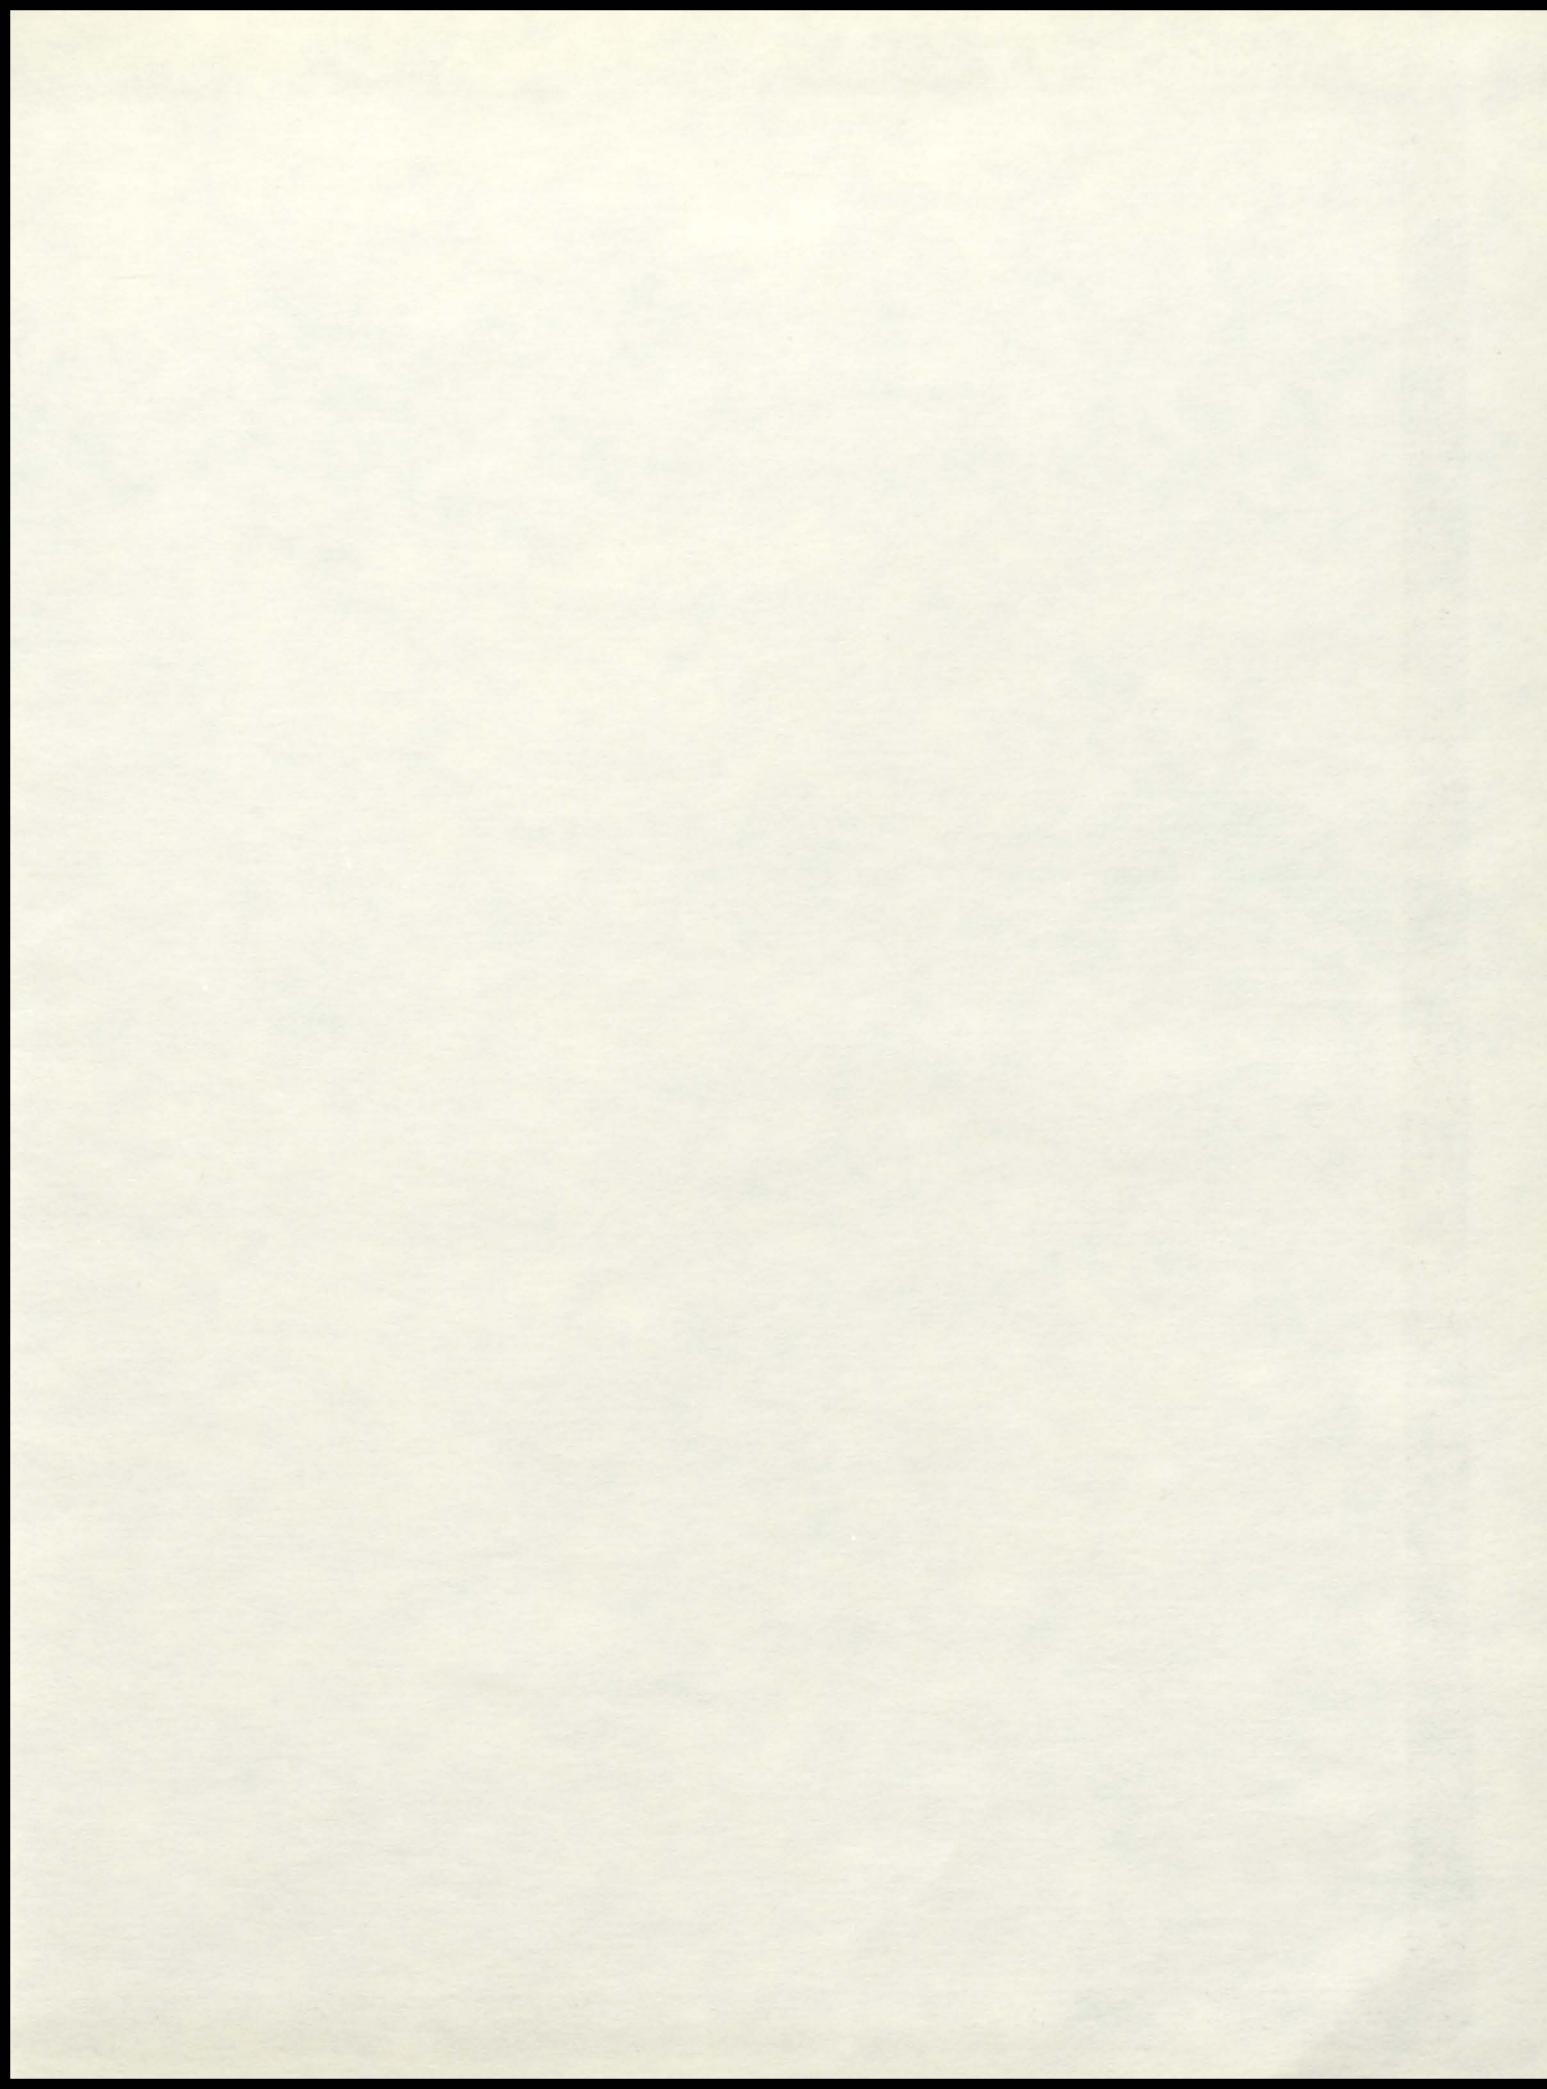

As we draw this evening's broadcast to a close, we, the junior class, would like to wish everyone an enjoyable night and remember, let's drive carefully out there!
